“When my mother, Joyce, and my father, Gordon Austin, first met at a cocktail party in 1949, they were on the roof of the George V hotel in Paris. Within 5 minutes, their conversation had turned to Georgian Bay! My mother, from Toronto, had grown up summering in Muskoka. Gordon, an American Air Force officer, had fished the Bay shortly after WWII. Canadian friends had recommended the remote paradise, and Gordon found his way to Go Home Bay. Clearly Georgian Bay launched their love and their 44 year marriage.

In 1961, my parents bought High Rock Island near Sans Souci. During the summers to come, the “island” became our family haven. Our modest cottages were build, and Dad and I built our workshop together. High Rock became legend with our family and numerous friends who would come from far and wide to visit.

When age dictated that Gordon could no longer come to High Rock, he reveled in my family's stories of island activity. He was so thrilled that the 3rd. generation of our family was proving to be equally passionate about our little rock. He and Joyce taught our family to care about wildlife, water levels, beautiful sunsets, flora, and the most beautiful ROCKS in the world. A contribution to Georgian Bay Forever is a humble acknowledgement of Joyce and Gordon's love of all things Georgian Bay.
