When Judy and I moved to Toronto from Virginia and became Torontonians 47 years ago, it was life-changing for us. Not only had we left our home and moved to a new country, we also had said goodbye to the one thing we both loved very much: the ocean.

Within a short period of time, new friends invited us to their cottage on an island in Georgian Bay where we discovered a wondrously pristine, wild and beautiful body of water. And what was more, it rivalled our fond experiences of memorable times at the seashore. We knew, during that first visit, that Georgian Bay was going to play a huge role in our life.

We rented cottages on the Bay for a few weeks every year and eventually decided that we would be able to invest in our own property. That was 35 years ago. Today, we enjoy our "summer home" and share our love of the Bay with our three sons, their wives and our grandchildren, eight in total!

Our children and grandchildren have grown up exploring the Bay and love it as we have for so many years. We have a lifetime of irreplaceable memories: swimming, fishing, sailing, enjoying precious times with family and friends, boating to favourite places and exploring new ones, and just simply loving the natural and rugged beauty of Georgian Bay.

We believe, as do our children, that we have a responsibility to ensure that this special place is around forever. Our investment in Georgian Bay Forever's work ensures that our water stays safe to drink as well as to swim and enjoy forever! Judy and I want to do all we can to enhance and protect the waters of Georgian Bay, for our children's children's children! That's why we support Georgian Bay Forever. They are investing in critical science-based solutions to ensure that what we all love – our Georgian Bay water – is around forever."
